MESPA On-Line: Learning Without Boundaries

MESPA is pleased to offer an alternative way of improving your professional practice – MESPA Online: Learning Without Boundaries. We have been developing and refining online workshops and courses the past few years for students in some of our certificate programs using our Moodle server. This year, in recognition of the need for more flexible learning opportunities for educators, we are expanding our suite of professional development opportunities to include MESPA Online: Learning Without Boundaries. We know you will find the same high quality classes taught by outstanding practitioners with a wealth of online teaching experience.

Leading with Technology

Course #: 10-233OL

Dates: January 20, 2010 –February 3, 2010

Fee: $99.00

Audience: School & Team Leaders,
Department heads, Coordinators, Program Directors

This ten hour online course is designed for school and team leaders, department heads, curriculum coordinators, and anyone who wants to investigate and understand application of newer technologies to improve teaching, learning, managing, and communicating. They will research effective models of technology integration, as well as consider technology tools for managing and communicating in a school environment. Some of the technologies covered will be podcasting, wiki's, blogs and Google docs.

Presenter: Robert Tucker, is an Education and Technology Specialist with the MESPA Education & Technology Center, Marlborough, Massachusetts. He serves as director of the Assistive Technology Project and also directs the Instructional Technology Master's/Certification program. His areas of expertise include professional development, technology planning, and assistive technologies and Universal Design for Learning. Mr. Tucker was an education specialist at the Center for Applied Special Technologies (CAST) of Peabody, Massachusetts. Prior to joining CAST, Mr. Tucker was with the Chapter 1 Computer Cooperative Center (C4), Maynard, Massachusetts for six years. A former elementary school teacher in Lexington, his degrees include a B.A. from the University of Massachusetts, and a M.Ed. from Harvard University Graduate School of Education.
